You are a young storyteller, who travels the world in search of adventure. From San Francisco to Prague, from the Pyrenees to The Nile, from the T-Rex to the Tarai. The storyteller sets out to create their own story. To collect items for a dangerous quest, to befriend incredible new characters and become their travelling companion. To be so immersed in the story that you can barely tell yourself you're there. It is often said that VR is a medium for storytelling. Our game takes this to its limit, offering a completely new type of telling. You are a storyteller, and you have the chance to write your own adventure. Everything is designed for maximum immersion: in-game storybook stories, music, voice acting, and intuitive scripting. You have the choice to pursue story content or explore the world, experience the atmosphere, and have fun with as little or as much difficulty as you like. Apart from the story there's also a complex combat system with a set of challenges for every level of difficulty. For the first time, players are also able to collect their enemies as trophies and rewards, which can be used to enhance your character's abilities. The storyteller is also immersed in the VR world, so every adventure is a unique experience. This is the first VR game for a tablet device, so not only are you an adventurer in a VR world, but also an adventurer who is exploring a VR world on his or her own tablet. © 2019 Developer: Daniel Jiménez, FinancialSoup. I wanted to inform you that we're now listening to your recommendations and trying to bring you a Steins;Gate game! We love Steins;Gate and we've seen the fandom grow during our development of this project. Our first step is to make a VR game because we think it will be a lot of fun for fans and players alike. We're aware it will take a lot of effort, but we're listening to your suggestions. If you have recommendations on how to make Steins;Gate feel comfortable in VR, we'd love to hear them. Do you know other fans who would be interested in playing Ste

The game has 3 modes. The first mode is single player. In this mode the player can choose one of the 3 different cats. The player can try to get a maximum score for every 20 seconds. The one who has the highest score wins. The second mode is called party mode. In this mode three players can play together. In the party mode the players will fight with each other. The one with the highest score wins. The third mode is network mode. In this mode the players are connected to a local network. The network mode is the same as the single player mode. The time limit is 120 seconds. @Shiraz7: Lyrebird wrote:"Note to self: keep away from 'illegal' magnets." @Shiraz7: Go to the back of the fridge and put the fridge on the desk, close the door and remove the fridge. Get the fridge out of the way and maybe a bit of space between the fridge and the desk. Then you can stick the phone on the fridge. Remember to put the fridge back in place when you are done. Ok, I just had to fix what was wrong with the game. With my code working perfectly, I needed to make a small modification. I just added one line of code to the bottom of the beginning of update. — The key to a successful life is learning the meaning of 'no'. - Alfred Adler Might be a lot, though its hard to say, due to the very large amount of levels and boards (and the fact that everybody can use the same boards and have the same number of boards), and the next update will come out a lot faster. This is just a dev build, and people can use it and report their findings to me on the project thread on google plus (gameplay, bugs, etc..) Hm, okay, I think I've found a bug: I'll remove the magnet and get back to you soon. It will depend on how long the magnet takes to remove the board. Edit: The magnet seems to take a bit of time to remove the board. It takes at least two seconds to remove a 600x600 board. The magnet starts at the back of the board and moves in to the front. I'm leaving now, will keep you updated on my findings! I'm leaving now, will keep you updated on my findings! — The key

! - Herbalife Helps All Users! I'd always wanted to contribute something to this forum and this is what I came up with. I thought I'd update anyone who might be interested as to how the Herbalife campaign has fared. At my gym we were split into 3 groups. Myself and 2 other instructors decided to join Herbalife. Three of us were put in the same group which, using the so called "Herbalife multiplier" was meant to cost us $2500.00 by the end of the year - but we were told it was a group purchase and we could share the cost. It was like this: There were 6 of us, 3 were in the same network - training together. All 3 were initially highly motivated to take the cash from a month or two and finish the year off with a nice 25% profit. Out of the three, one never got the page at all. One told me he'd never had any problems with the pills and had one month left in his cycle and would be done for the year. The other 2 in my group had a very different experience: The first paid and used a sample pack we got from the pills section of Herbalife for a while. When he got to his month, he gave me the note from his ref to prove that he had actually used the pills. The note read as follows: Herbalife Nutrition Mix#1 Month This is the way of Herbalife for me. I take one pill and one capsule first thing in the morning and last thing at night. Herbalife Nutrition Mix#1 is a full meal replacement specifically designed to meet the needs of active weightlifters. The energy is not completely there, but it was on my mind and I wanted to finish the month to see the fuel I was getting. That's all he was willing to tell me. I had some conversations after the fact with other gym members of the other groups in the gym and they all had very similar stories. After one month the trainer/supplier, with no warning, told me he'd quit. I had some conversations with him in the months that followed - probably 4 or 5 - and he wouldn't tell me ANYTHING. When I asked him for any proof of his products, he told me he was tired of telling me the same thing over and over again. I'm pretty sure that many
